50 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT OAKLAND

BULLETIN
Chicago, Aug. 24—(P)—United Air Lines announced today the toll of the crash of its big liner in California this morning was fifty persons—44 passengers and six crew members. The airline said the three additions to an earlier report of 47 fatalities are believed to be infants. Children under two years of age are not fare paying passengers.

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 24—(P)—Fifty persons died on the crest of a low hill near here today as a million-dollar airliner crashed and disintegrated. There were no survivors.

Hours later broken bodies were being taken from the shattered wreckage of the United Air Lines plane. At the top of the hill there lay the body of a little tow-headed boy. His skull was crushed. Others lay in tangled debris in a ravine.

The plane, a DC-6-B, was flying non-stop from Chicago to Oakland. The flight originated in Boston last night, and the four-engine ship had stopped at Hartford and Cleveland, in addition to Chicago.

In Chicago, United Air Lines said the list of 41 passengers was sketchy, with some names incomplete, and few home towns listed. Only five minutes before the plane was to have landed at Oakland airport, it crashed inexplicably into a low hill 1 1/2 miles east of Decoto, a farming community about ten miles southeast of Oakland.

Three minutes before the crash, Pilot Marion W. Hedden of Los Altos, Calif., had given the control tower a routine report.

Then residents of the area were startled by a flaming flash and the rumble of a blast. The six crew members and the passengers died when the huge liner plowed into the hill. The shattered debris rained down for 200 yards as the plane slid into the sharp ribbed ravine at the base of the knoll.

The DC-6-B type plane has been in United Air Line service since August 1. Its use has been the source of a controversy between the Air Lines Pilots' Association and the various air lines.

Last June the pilots struck United for ten days, demanding that their mileage pay be geared to the handling of the faster and larger plane.

Search For Body of Drowning Victim Is Unsuccessful

Efforts to locate the body of Frank E. Craig, 35, of Youngsville, who drowned in Chautauque Lake early Wednesday evening, had been unavailing at press time today. The Lakewood Fire Department advised The Times-Mirror that dragging is being continued by the Department, by the Chautauque Lake Navigation Commission, and by the Sheriff's department.

Mr. Craig, who had operated a tavern in Youngsville since last October, fell from a cabin cruiser owned by Charles O. Young, 800 Conewango avenue. He was on a fishing trip with Mr. Young, whom he had met only a short time before the accident, and Casto Dixon, 21 Franklin street, Warren. Mr. Young, who does not have full use of his legs, was not in the boat.

LAST PUFF!
Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 24—(P)—Crew members chalked a nostalgic farewell on the sides of engine 7947. The New York Central steam engine is being replaced by a diesel locomotive.

On her sides they wrote: "Retiring, don't cry for me; 'no smoke—just noise now'; 'last day, I hope'; 'did my best—going for a rest'; and 'last stop before the junk pile.'"

Fine Signs Into Law Bill Legalizing Sale of Yellow-Colored Oleo in State

Harrisburg, Aug. 24—(P)—Gov. John S. fine signed into law today a bill legalizing the sale of yellow-colored oleomargarine in Pennsylvania.

The governor's action set in motion elaborate plans made by the margarine industry for immediate delivery of the colored product into the state by truck, train, plane and taxicab.

The new law, effective upon the governor's signature, permits sale of yellow oleo in plainly marked one-pound packages for home use only. The ban against use of oleo in public eating houses is continued.

Margarine dealers, expecting approval of the bill by the governor, started making elaborate plans immediately after its final passage, to hasten deliveries of the colored product.

Under previous law, housewives bought the white product at the Sander's grocery at North Warren, was perhaps one of the first stores in Pennsylvania to put colored oleomargarine on sale today. The colored spread arrived at Sander's today in a matter of minutes after Governor John S. Fine signed the measure making it legal, and arrived at the Sander's store almost as soon as a transport truck, carrying one certain brand, could enter the state from over the New York line. By mid-afternoon, practically all Warren stores had the colored oleomargarine on sale, one or as many as three brands. It appeared in one-pound pound packages and in pound packages divided into four quarters. The price range is from 25 to 35 cents per pound, depending upon the make, at present.

Under normal delivery conditions about 10 days would be required to stock stores with colored oleo. But oleo distributors concentrated shipments at points close to the state border, with arrangements made to start deliveries by fastest possible methods when Fine's signature to the bill gave them the go-ahead signal. They expected to cover the state with deliveries within 24 hours.

EMPLOYEE FIRED
Washington, Aug. 24—(P)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today that Jack Cowart, an assistant to the production and marketing administrator, was dismissed yesterday as a matter of "internal discipline." Brannan's statement, made to White House reporters as he emerged from the weekly cabinet meeting, followed earlier disclosure that Cowart was suspended a week or ten days ago pending an investigation of unspecified charges against him.

NOZZLE DEMONSTRATION

Warren firemen arch a long stream from the aerial ladder truck in demonstrating a new high-pressure nozzle near United Refinery plant yesterday. Using a two-line tandem, firemen squirted water a distance of 225 feet, and could lengthen the arch considerably with a three-line feed. Fire Chief C. A. Albaugh said the new nozzle now makes it possible to shoot a stream of water over the roof of the Warren Bank and Trust Co., the community's tallest building. Cost of the new nozzle was about $350. See other pictures on Page 8. (Times-Mirror Photo).

Mexican Village Wiped Out by Flood

Mexico City, Aug. 24—(P)—Fifty persons were feared dead today from the flood of a bursting dam yesterday wiped out a whole village in the wake of a s-sant-out hurricane.

The dam at Cardenas, 150 miles north of here, crumbled under the pressure of heavy rains which followed a killer hurricane. The hurricane itself had left more than 150 dead in Jamaica, slammed into the Gulf of Mexico and left one person dead in the oil port city of Tampico before spending itself against the Mexican mountains.

The government railways said 27 bodies of persons living in the town—a few hundred feet below the dam—had been recovered. About 23 others were missing. Searchers were still hunting in the corn fields below the dam.

The 60-foot dam, holding some 375,000,000 gallons of water for the railway shops at Cardenas, gave way about noon yesterday after more than seven inches of rain had fallen in 24 hours.

he dam broke without warning and cut a cluster of 75 railway workers' homes to the foundations.

BOY IS KILLED WHILE PLAYING KOREAN WAR

Pittsburgh, Aug. 24—(P)—A boy's game of "Korean war" in nearby Plum township last night ended in the death of 13-year-old Gary Galdoni.

Police gave this version: Galdoni and two other boys, armed with 22 caliber rifles, were creeping up a hill when one shouted:

"Here comes the enemy. We're surrounded."

At that, one of the youths swung around and his gun discharged. The bullet hit Galdoni in the left temple.

LAD KILLS HIMSELF

Greensburg, Aug. 24—(P)—A 13-year-old boy who was to return home from vacation soon shot and killed himself yesterday at the home of his grandmother at near-by Penn. Coroner Joseph R. Check reported. Check said Kenneth Paul Dumsick, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dumsick, Wyandotte, Mich., killed himself with a .22 caliber rifle.

Bail for Nelson Is Furnished by Civil Rights Congress

Philadelphia, Aug. 24—(P)—Steve Nelson, western Pennsylvania Communist leader, was free today under $20,000 bond put up by the Civil Rights Congress.

U. S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr yesterday accepted the Congress' cash bail guaranteeing Nelson's appearance at a scheduled hearing Aug. 31. He was handed 13 new $1,000 bills, and $7,000 in $100 bills.

It was the first time since four top Communists jumped bond provided by the Congress that bail from that organization was accepted on a Communist defendant.

Removal of Nelson to Pittsburgh will be sought at his Aug. 31 hearing.

He, and five other defendants were indicted there yesterday by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to violate the Smith Act prohibiting agitation for the violent overthrow of the federal government.

Indicted along with Nelson were: James H. Dolson, Pittsburgh correspondent of The Daily Worker; Andrew Onda, a Communist party organizer; Ben Careathers, the party's western Pennsylvania treasurer; William Albertson, of Detroit, and Irving Weissman, of West Virginia.

Bail for Nelson was posted by Jack S. Zucker, who identified himself as a member of the board of trustees of the Civil Rights Congress and organizational director of the Congress in Pennsylvania.

Nelson had been in Moyamensing prison since his arrest Aug. 17. His bail originally was set at $100,000. It was reduced to $20,000 by U. S. District Judge William H. Kirkpatrick on Wednesday.

But Skipper Mary Ellen McGrady was slightly put out because, in her words, the public has been given a wrong idea about the purpose of the 1,800-mile river trip from New Kensington, Pa., to New Orleans.

She was backed up by the others—Geraldine Garcia, 25, Boston; Milton E. Borden, 30, New Bedford, Mass.; and Donald A. Brown, 23, another University of Michigan student.

Basically, she said yesterday, the trip is one of adventure and sight-seeing along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

MACFADDEN TO JUMP AT FALLS LABOR DAY

New York, Aug. 24—(P)—Bernarr MacFadden, 33-year-old physical culturist, has scheduled his parachute jump into the waters below Niagara Falls for the Labor Day weekend.

Yesterday a spokesman for MacFadden said the octogenarian and A. L. Newcomb, Detroit parachute expert, will fly over the falls tomorrow and Sunday and drop dummy-carrying parachutes to gather water and air current data.

The spokesman said MacFadden plans to land in the waters where the "Maid of the Mist" sightseeing boat sails below the falls.

A power boat will patrol the area to pick up MacFadden after his jump.

MacFadden, a registered pilot, celebrated his 31st birthday with his first parachute jump near T-nsville, N. Y. On that occasion, he landed on the ground.

U. N. Command in Tokyo Hopeful Cease-Fire Talks Will Be Resumed

NEW INCOME TAX FORMULA MEETS DELAY

Washington, Aug. 24—(P)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee said today he doubted that new higher income tax withholding rates could go into effect Oct. 1.

He told a reporter this before his committee went into session to try to agree on a plan for boosting individual income taxes.

It is looking for a formula which will be easier on all classes of taxpayers than a House-approved 12 1/2 per cent increase.

The House bill calls for the tax hike and new withholding rates to go into effect Sept. 1. The Finance Committee has discarded this and has been shooting for Oct. 1.

But George said he thinks it questionable now that Congress can complete final action in time to put new rates in by Oct. 1. He declined to predict what date his group might pick.

First of all is the job of agreeing on a tax rate plan.

The committee thought it had done so when it tentatively adopted a new formula Tuesday. But when tables showing the impact at various income levels were assembled the following day, committee members were surprised at the result.

Their plan would have required most married couples in the $5,000 to $15,000 net income class to pay more than the House had voted.

After two days spent in recanting all the possibilities, Chairman George (D-Ga.) told newsmen he thought some definite action on personal income taxes would be disclosed today. The committee had tables prepared overnight and wanted to take a good look at them before making any announcements. George said he was sure the final plan would be easier on all classes of taxpayers than the House bill.

The delay in acting on individual taxes made it certain that the committee could not finish writing its version of the House-passed $7,200,000,000 revenue-boosting measure this week. The group still must act on corporation and excise taxes. George originally had suggested his group could get through today or tomorrow.

However, the bill still could go to the Senate floor in early September.

RAFT "LETHARGIA" AT ASHLAND, KENTUCKY

Ashland, Ky., Aug. 24—(P)—Four young voyagers, New Orleans bound on the raft "Lethargia," stopped over here for a spell and affirmed that their much publicized adventure is going well.

But Skipper Mary Ellen McGrady was slightly put out because, in her words, the public has been given a wrong idea about the purpose of the 1,800-mile river trip from New Kensington, Pa., to New Orleans.

She was backed up by the others—Geraldine Garcia, 25, Boston; Milton E. Borden, 30, New Bedford, Mass.; and Donald A. Brown, 23, another University of Michigan student.

Basically, she said yesterday, the trip is one of adventure and sight-seeing along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

ONE-DAY EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM IS BEING HELD FOR DEFENSE LEADERS AT INDIANTOWN

Indiantown Gap, Aug. 24—(P)—Two hundred local Civil Defense leaders of Pennsylvania were told today that Civil Defense has become a permanent part of government on the federal, state and local level.

Dr. Theodore A. Distler, Lancaster, chairman of the State Council of Civil Defense, told the leaders.

W. F. Clinger, civil defense co-ordinator for Warren county, and Harry F. Schmidt, deputy co-ordinator, are at Indiantown Gap for the one-day educational program arranged by the State Council of Civil Defense.

Dr. Distler spoke at the opening of a one-day educational program for local Civil Defense leaders at the big military reservation here. The program's climax comes tonight with a mock air raid.

Indiana Amish Plan Hot Rod Buggy Races

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 24—(P)—The usually staid Amish youth of Elkhart county are planning a "hot rod" race at the county fair.

The Amish, a religious sect, disapprove of automobiles so the race will be a "hot rod" buggy race.

A number of young Amishmen, despite frowns from their elders, plan to strip the bodies from their buggies, mount seats on the front axles and participate in a series of four races at the fairgrounds track tomorrow afternoon.

There will be two mile races and two one-half mile contests.

FIVE DOGS POISONED, EAST SIDERS IRATE, FEAR FOR CHILDREN

Residents on the East Side, particularly in the Russell street area, are rightfully incensed over the despicable actions of some person who is placing poisoned food where it will be found and devoured by dogs.

Mike Evan, Borough Police Chief, said today that the poisonings have extended over a period of three weeks. He has been assisted in his investigation by Ray Shaw of Endeavor, state dog law enforcement officer, and they are continuing their efforts to locate the offender. Several clues have turned up during their questioning of residents and dog-owners, and action will be taken as soon as sufficient evidence is at hand.

The owners of three of the dogs were able to discern the trouble in time to save the dogs' lives while two other dogs succumbed. Chief Evan said this afternoon that strychnine seems to be the poison which is being used. He said the dogs which were poisoned suffered terribly and that convulsions were caused by the poison.

Not only are East Side folk up in arms over the dog poisonings but they are desperately worried for fear the poisoned food may be of a character to attract children.

TWO AMERICANS DIE IN FRENCH COLLISION

Metz, France, Aug. 24—(P)—The Basel-Calais express rammed into the rear of a Frankfurt-Paris train near here today. Ten persons, including two Americans, were killed, and possibly 40 others, about half of them U. S. soldiers, were injured.

The express from Frankfurt, Germany, had just passed the Sany-sur-Nied station, 10 miles from Metz. The engineer halted the train on a safety signal. The Paris-bound train was 30 minutes late.

The train from Basel, Switzerland, proceeding at about 50 miles an hour, rammed into the wooden car at the end of the Frankfurt train, smashing the car to bits and pushing the next one, a second-class carriage, on to the roof of the car ahead.

U. S. military police from Metz were rushed to the scene.

Ray of Hope for Continuance of Parley Is Found in Latest Message from Top Communists

BULLETIN
U. S. Fifth Air Force Headquarters, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 25—(P)—Two Communist jet planes were shot down Friday when 24 American Sabre jets attacked 40 Red MIGs over North Korea. Fifth Airforce Headquarters announced today.

Tokyo, Aug. 24—(P)—Only a tiny ray of hope remained today that Korean truce talks might be resumed.

If they break down completely, the United Nations ground commander said his troops will go back to fighting "with hate and eagerness."

"We feel very confident we can whip the enemy in the present battle area," Gen. James A. Van Fleet said at his Eighth Army headquarters.

The U. N. command in Tokyo had not abandoned all hope for the armistice talks.

Officers searched through a new message from top Communists for an indication that they might want to resume the Kaesong armistice talks which they broke off abruptly Thursday. It was in this harshly worded message they found a ray of hope.

The message was from Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier and supreme commander, and Gen. Peng Teh Hui, commander of Chinese troops in Korea. It was addressed to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, top U. N. commander.

The official text was delivered Friday afternoon to Ridgway. He was reported giving it "careful study."

As broadcast by Red radio, the message said:

"It is our hope that the armistice negotiations will proceed smoothly and that a just and reasonable agreement acceptable to both sides will be reached."

But, it continued, because of "the deliberately murderous bombing, the Reds declared 'the meeting adjourned as from August 23rd' to wait for Ridgway 'to take responsible action with regard to this serious provocation by your side.'"

The message closed:

"We lodge our serious protest with you before the eyes of all just people throughout the world and await your satisfactory answer."

This request for a satisfactory answer caught the eye of some officials in Tokyo.

These officials reckoned that if Kim and Peng meant to end the talks completely, they would not have requested a reply. Instead they would have stood on the original statement by their liaison officer that negotiations were "off from now on."

The wording was intended to put the next move up to Ridgway. Top U. N. command officials made no comment on what Ridgway might do.

If there is a permanent break-down, news dispatches from United Nations in New York said the U. N. assembly may have a try at settling the Korean impasse. The next regular assembly session starts in Paris Nov. 6.

A new Red offensive, Van Fleet said, "would play into our firepower. If we can get them out in the open we would have a beautiful shoot."

Truman Blast at "Worst Provisions" Of Control Laws Touches Off Action

Washington, Aug. 24—(P)—President Truman's delayed blast at what he called the three "worst provisions" of the new economic controls law has touched off a series of explosive moves in congress.

Three Republican senators, Ferguson (Mich.), Nixon (Calif.) and Welker (Idaho), accepted Mr. Truman's tartly worded economic message to congress yesterday as a political challenge.

Expressing doubt that the president sincerely wanted controls enforced, they quickly introduced a bill to repeal the three provisions the president disliked.

The senate banking committee, after a hurriedly-called and reportedly heated closed-door meeting, agreed to public hearings next Thursday and Friday on the repeal proposals.

Senator Moody (D-Mich.), a committee member, told a reporter today he thinks it's possible congress will reverse itself on the 23-day-old controls law.

"I'm going to do everything in my power to see that it's done before we recess," Moody added.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he would support some of the presidential requests but questioned whether there is time to act on any more controversial bills, with "adjournment coming along fast."

Mr. Truman's message was read only in the senate. The house had adjourned for a 19-day vacation a few hours earlier. No hearings on the message were scheduled there.

The provisions Mr. Truman assailed were sponsored by Senators Capehart (R-Ind.) and Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) and by Reps. Hope (R-Kans.) and Herlong (D-Fla.).

Living Cost Index Is Up a Fraction

Washington, Aug. 24—(P)—The government's new cost of living index, issued today, was up only a fraction but it was enough to mean a one cent an hour pay boost for nearly 1,000,000 auto workers.

The index, based on prices as of July 15, was 185.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average. This was an increase of 0.2 per cent over June 15.

This figure was for the "new" index. The old index, based on a slightly different method of measuring the family budget of moderate income families, was 185.8, also an increase of 0.2 per cent over June 15.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepared the index, changed its method several months ago, but issues both "old" and "new" index figures because some union contracts tie wage scales to the "old" index.

IT'S A FIREBALL ENGINE

You can Beat the Bushes - but you can't Beat this

If you want to know why shrewd car shoppers are saying "Smart Buy's Buick," take a look at this.

It's the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan - and it's roomier than most 4-door sedans, higher-powered than many costlier cars - and priced, as you can see, right down near the lowest.

Now, we ask you: where can you beat it for the money?

Can you beat this beauty on looks and style and rich bearing in any other car near its price?

Can you match, at the same money, the big power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine (128 horsepower with Dynaflo Drive*) - or the big miles-per-gallon figure it delivers with such thrills?

Can you equal this traveler's roominess in any other car of comparable cost - get full-size headroom, legroom and hiproom both front and rear in any other 2-door automobile?

Can you come even near the gentle levelness of its ride and the solid steadiness of its going - have coil springs on all four wheels and a torque-tube keel beneath you - except in another Buick?

And where can you top the restful ease and luxurious smoothness of this sweetheart's Dynaflo Drive* in any other automobile at any price?

The answers, from a lot of certain-sure folks, sum up to a great big, "YOU CAN'T!"

But why take anyone else's word for it?

Come in and get your own answers. Look over this bedrock-priced Buick - compare it with any other automobile at the same money - and you'll agree you can't beat this smartest of buys.

DANGEROUS DAYS
for your valuables

Burglars find more numerous opportunities in warm weather. Doors and windows are then more likely to be left open, with the family out. Your vacation and week-end trips offer the burglar further chances to enter your home.

Fire, however, is a greater hazard in winter when furnaces swing into action.

Give your valuables and important papers dependable year-round protection in a box in our fireproof Safe Deposit Vault.

THE JAYCEE AUXILIARY FLOWER SHOW

An event scheduled for tonight and tomorrow that will command attention for hundreds of citizens in and around Warren, regardless of any other affairs on the weekend schedule will be the Flower Show at the Youth Canteen, in the rear of the YMCA, opening tonight, with visiting hours from six to ten, and Saturday from nine a. m., until five p. m.

The first show of its kind in ten years, the occasion will bring together the finest displays of Warren county's best products in flowers and vegetables. Favorable weather during the growing season should make the show unusually attractive.

The community has not had a flower show since 1941 when the Warren National Bank, after 16 consecutive years, decided to abandon the project. Announcement by the Auxiliary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce members that this organization would sponsor a show this year met with instant popular favor, and advance interest not only assured a large number of entries of all the best known garden flowers, but justifies predictions that the attendance will make the young women in charge feel well rewarded for their efforts.

THE NIGHT-CRIERS

The New York Times

These August nights are the noisiest nights of the year. The insect fiddlers by now have mustered virtually their full chorus, and most of them are nocturnal. The last major section to join the chorus is the harshest of all, the katydids, who can and do make the whole night vibrate.

Nearly all these night-criers are wing-scratchers. Only an entomologist can list them accurately and completely for they include both true and false katydids, several varieties of crickets, certain grasshoppers and lesser-known kin of them all. They have two things in common: they love the night and they have "files" or "scratchers" with which to vibrate their wings and make their night sounds.

Some of them have been with us for weeks, but the great chorus does not really begin until the hot, humid nights of August. We heard the early arrivals without listening, for the ear can ignore a slowly growing chorus until it becomes a din. The katydids make it a din, and now the ear is aware of every theme and variation. We have no silent nights after April, but it requires the August clamor to make us fully aware of that.

We shall not have silent nights again until the heavy frosts have come. But there is silence now, if one lies sleepless long enough. In the thin hour when dawn is almost here the night-criers rest their noisy wings, and the quiet is like a vacuum. You listen, and briefly it is as though November had come with its silence. Then another day breaks and it is August and summer, vibrant, pulsing with small, winged life once more.

TIMELY LESSON FOR IRAN

While Britain and Iran are sparring away over the bitter Iranian oil dispute, it ought to be noted that neighboring Iraq has quietly come to a satisfactory agreement with foreign firms over its own oil.

Under terms of the new pact, Iraq will get 50 per cent of the profits from oil taken from its soil. Three companies representing American, French and Dutch interests share jointly in exploitation of Iraq's oil resources.

Credit should go to the men who concluded this agreement in an atmosphere of great tension. There was fear that Iraq would follow Iran's lead, or at least delay action until final settlement of the Iranian problem, in the hope of perhaps getting a better deal.

This was genuine economic statesmanship. It has for a time at least, wiped out the prospect of a new trouble spot developing in the Middle East.

PARDON US, HAITI

A reporter just back from Haiti said the Haitians were disturbed because the post of U. S. ambassador has been vacant for eight months. He asked President Truman if he planned an appointment soon.

Cheerily, the president responded that he'd named an ambassador the day before. But when he was asked for the man's name, Mr. Truman said he couldn't remember.

Haitian papers, please forgive and forget. After all, this fellow is awfully busy. So many names, so many faces...

"For Distinguished Service"

Here And There

The activities of officers and members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce the past few days completing plans for the first annual Flower Show opening tonight at six o'clock in the Youth Canteen, rear of the YMCA, reminds of similar enthusiasm and untiring work on the part of "Bob" MacKay, and other employees of the Warren National Bank, which staged exhibits of like nature annually for 16 years, until 1941, when the last one was held.

"Bob" always prepared the advertising and wrote most of the publicity for the Bank Flower Show, and his "copy" usually read like a masterpiece. For instance we find a large "ad" on page nine of the September 5th, 1941, Times-Mirror, printed in a space four columns wide and 16 inches long, well laid out with appropriate cuts, which reads:

Tomorrow—And you're invited. Come to Warren County's biggest community event tomorrow! You'll agree it beats any orange or rose or apple-blossom festival staged by other sections of the country—our own Flower Show. And it's free! No entrance fee, no door fee! Our 16th Annual Flower Show. Open for entries 7 to 11 a. m.—show opens to public at 2 p. m. Let's see what your garden has to offer in flowers, fruits or vegetables. If you've exhibited before, you know the rules—they're the same as last year. If you haven't get a prize list at the bank and bring everything you have which is eligible for prizes. For we give almost 200 prize ribbons and cash awards. And we've added new prizes for patriotic displays of red, white and blue floral combinations. Only amateurs may compete. But everybody is invited to see the show when the doors open Saturday afternoon at two. The show is continuous until ten. The bank will be open to receive entries this evening from 6 to 9. To wander down a garden path, bordered with... the simple homely flowers... Gay sinners, tall phlox, and marigold; and bending from the perfume of a rose, to drop upon my knees before unfolding beauty of white violets. (From "Garden Prayer" by Nancy Allen in "House and Garden".) (WARREN NATIONAL BANK).

Many residents will recall with fond recollections how the Warren National Flower Show always proved a highlight of the early fall season. Patrons flocked to the exhibit by the thousands. This is no exaggeration because each year a bank employee was stationed at the door with a "counter" to keep check on how many persons, and the day after most any one connected with the institution could tell you exactly how many had passed through the lobby of the building to view the colorful display. And it is a safe guess that any person who remembers the Flower Shows of the past, along with hundreds of citizens generally, interested in horticulture, and the very successful activities promoted either by the Jaycees or their wives, who really should be recognized as the inspirations back of all the worthwhile projects sponsored for the benefit of the community by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will visit the Youth Canteen either tonight or tomorrow to see the exhibit arranged by these hustling young women.

WASHINGTON COLUMN *

Baruch, the Historian, Would Amend His Comment on Ike

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—When Bernard Baruch returned from his recent trip to Europe, he got a call from a New York reporter who asked for comment on the burning of a Ku Klux Klan cross near the Baruch Carolina estate. The demonstration had been accompanied by some uncomplimentary remarks by a Klansman on Baruch's ancestry. Anyway, when Baruch heard about what had happened at home while he had been away, he smiled that quizzical smile of his and asked the reporter if he had ever heard of Balaam's ass? The reporter allowed that he had. Balaam was the Old Testament prophet whose king wanted him to put a curse on the Israelites. But the angel of the Lord came in a vision to the ass which Balaam rode. And the ass argued with Balaam.

Baruch commented that this fellow down in Carolina had only proved what Balaam proved: "Any ass can speak. But, having spoken, he is still an ass."

Baruch got in another historical allusion in referring to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's new crusade in Europe as similar to that of Peter the Hermit. He was an 11th century Frenchman who is reported to have sold the idea for the crusades to Pope Urban, and who led the first crusade to recapture Jerusalem from the Turks. Some say, however, that when the Holy City fell, Peter was back in Paris.

When Baruch was reminded of this, he admitted that his comparison to Eisenhower had not been so good. He had wanted to compare Eisenhower to Joan of Arc, but decided he'd better not bring a girl into it. So he settled on Peter the Hermit, which he thought would be a nice compliment to Eisenhower's present, second crusade in Europe. If he had the comparison to make over again, Baruch declares, he would make it to Richard the Lion Hearted.

ON General Eisenhower himself, Baruch is as high as always. He has known Ike ever since post-World War I days, when Eisenhower was a mere major under the then Chief of Staff Maj.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Baruch was President Woodrow Wilson's director of mobilization. Eisenhower always had the answers.

In Europe today, Mr. Baruch believes, General Eisenhower has to be the leader through inspiration. He can't be what Baruch calls "the wicked partner." He can't go around raising Cain, driving European military leaders to greater effort.

Mr. Baruch took on some of this role of the wicked partner during his visit to Europe. In talks with British, French and German leaders, Baruch emphasized repeatedly that the United States was in no mood to do the whole job in Europe.

Since returning to the United States, Baruch has told everyone that he did not talk politics with Eisenhower, and never has. Eisenhower's job in Europe is more important than the Presidency, he believes.

THE whole defense effort both at home and abroad is moving like glue, Baruch believes. He is extremely distressed over the lag in aircraft production. As soon as the Korean war broke out, Baruch wanted the United States to start all-out defense production. He believes that by not doing so, the United States missed its great opportunity to show Russia and to stop Russia.

While Mr. Baruch has not made full peace with President Truman, the two men did meet before Baruch went to Europe. It was at Gen. George Marshall's Leeburg, Va., home, where Mr. Baruch was a guest and President Truman was invited in for an afternoon call.

Baruch told Mr. Truman then that he had noted the President had been conspiring with the Republicans again.

Suspiciously, the President asked how? Baruch explained it was by getting the Republicans to oppose in-dustrial controls so that he—Truman—could be re-elected.

Art Johnson did some fancy flinging for the locals.

Covers were laid for 32 members of the Class of 1929 and their guests at the annual reunion at the Warren Outing Club, with Superintendent F. W. Friday, 1:30, Open Date Time.

The Falcons have no game at home this week-end so the Pirate-Dodger game will be heard on WNAE, starting at 2:30, Sunday.

Immediately following the broadcast of the game tonight, WRRN will carry a special Civil Defense broadcast from Indianatown Gap Military Reservation. If the game should be rained out, this special broadcast will be heard at 9:30... otherwise it will be recorded and presented immediately following the game. This Civil Defense Demonstration broadcast will be the first of its type in the United States and is being made possible through the efforts of the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters.

Featured on the broadcast will be a description of a mock air attack, complete with burning buildings, wrecked automobiles and other results of enemy attack. County coordinators of all counties throughout the state, including Floyd Clinger and Harry Schmidt, of Warren, will be at the three day conference. National interest is being shown in the conference with the attendance of the National Civil Defense Director Millard Caldwell, and high ranking army and navy personnel. Pennsylvania Governor John S. Fine and all state Civil Defense officers will add their efforts to making the conference worthwhile. Radio Station WHP in Harrisburg will originate the program that will be carried throughout the state on the two baseball networks and non-baseball stations will be fed the program from the nearest source. Because of the importance of this conference and the broadcast, the program tonight will be recorded and repeated on WNAE tomorrow afternoon following the game. This is one program that you are urged to hear either tonight or tomorrow afternoon... it will have information that you might need to know some day.

A couple of cool evenings this past week makes us think that listening to the radio in the evening will start becoming more popular again. Since FM radio is not wide spread in the portable or automobile field, many people lose touch with some of their evening programs from Mutual in the summer. The complete broadcasting schedule for WRRN is published every day in the Times-Mirror and you'll find many top programs each evening to add to your evening pleasure. Radio is a mighty fine companion... FM radio brings you the finest night-time reception in Warren.

After a picnic dinner, family pictures were taken and officers were elected as follows for the 1952 gathering: President, Arthur McChesney; secretary, Shirley McChesney; assistant secretary, Janet Knapp; treasurer, Erla Henderson. Next year's reunion will be held the third Sunday in August at the home of Myrl McChesney, Falconer.

ENJOYABLE TRIP

Mrs. J. S. Pees, Cobham Park road, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shine, 112 Pennsylvania avenue, west, is home after a pleasant vacation trip which included a visit with Mr. Shine's sister, Lillian, in Washington, D. C.; and Cpl. John A. Shine, Fort Belvoir, Va.; also with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shine in Atlantic City, N. J.

Is Preaching Farewell

Saying farewell to the congregation he has served since coming here from Brookville three years ago, the Rev. A. J. Kimmel will preach on "The Ministry of the Church" at 11 a. m. Sunday in First Evangelical United Brethren church. Having resigned his local pastorate, Mr. Kimmel is also retiring from active ministerial duties and plans to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Ridenour, 27 Bessemer street, Greenville. He has two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Howard, Greenville, and Mrs. Naomi Brocklehurst, Jackson Center, also two grandchildren, Jean Ridenour and James Brocklehurst. A contributing factor in his decision to retire at this time was the death last June of his wife, able assistant in every pastorate and endeavor.

Mr. Kimmel was born and reared in Somerset county and was licensed to preach when he entered Cleveland Bible College in 1914. Ordained a deacon in 1917 and an elder in 1919, he has served more than 30 years in churches of the Pittsburgh Conference. He came to Warren three years ago the first of September from Brookville, where he had been a like period of time. Prior to that he was in Oil City for 9 years, at Greenville for 7, at Conemaugh for 3, at Scottsdale for 5 and at Valencia for 4 years. He has served in a number of Conference capacities, including that of trustee, as secretary of the board of missions, and in a variety of minor offices.

Welcomed into the Warren County Ministerial Association upon his arrival in Warren to succeed the Rev. J. C. Wygant, he has served on a number of its committees and taught religious education classes for school students the first year after coming here.

Many of his parishioners and friends gathered in the church Wednesday evening for an informal program and farewell and he will take with him a material reminder of the event, a beautiful Hamilton wristwatch, as well as their best wishes for happiness in his new surroundings.

Is Presbyterian Speaker

Dr. Barney N. Morgan, who is secretary of the West Indies under the board of national missions of the Presbyterian denomination, will be the guest preacher at First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, broadcasting the 11 o'clock service over WNAE. To have lived for 20 years in a Caribbean republic with a strong one-man government and to leave with the respect and good will of all is not a common experience, but it has been that of Dr. Morgan, recently of the Dominican Republic. Furthermore, as superintendent of the joint Presbyterian, Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren mission work in the republic, he has drawn those of different points of view into a common approach to their task.

A Missouri man, educated at Park College, he took graduate and theological work at Princeton Seminary, going directly from the latter to the dean'ship of Polytechnic Institute in San German, Puerto Rico. Four years later, he was asked to supervise the new union work in the Dominican Republic and handled that task from 1929 to 1949. His interpretation of conditions and his vigorous enthusiasm as a speaker make him welcome everywhere.

His topic for the Presbyterian sermon Sunday morning will be "Under Three Flags." The quartet will sing "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach and Robert Dietrich, tenor, will sing "Be Thou With Me" by the same composer for the offertory. Richard Kerr will be at the organ to play "Ronde Française" by Beethoven for the prelude; "Trumpet Tune and Air" by Henry Purcell for the postlude. There is no Sunday school hour until September 9th.

ZONTA CLUB HAS STUDENTS AS GUESTS

In attendance were 15 members and nine guests, the latter including the two foreign students visiting in Warren, Genevieve Latasse from Paris and Erich Grabner from Austria; also a former club member, Alice Mead, vacationing here from St. Petersburg, Fla. The foreign visitors talked entertainingly of their schooling, travels and experiences. The next club meeting will be a luncheon at the YWCA September 13.

GUILD GATHERING

The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Branstrom.

Gorham "LYRIC"

RHYTHM IN SILVER

The reflection of candlelight from the crowning braids of a woman's hair inspired a Gorham designer to create "Lyric". The sculptured simplicity of this pattern is broken by the interesting ribbons of light and dark created by the "braided" treatment at the top of the handles. Gorham "Lyric" is gracefully simple, a reflection of the modern feeling in contemporary sterling design. See it and other Gorham patterns soon at our store.

Old Timers From Watson Township

The reunion of past and present residents of Watson township, the so-called Old Timers, brought out a total of 130 persons, including the group of oldsters pictured above and the oldest and youngest, seen at the left. In the larger group are all the older residents, including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilcox, Pleasant township; Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCloskey, Tidoute; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McKay, Spring Creek; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McKay, Sheffield; Mrs. Emma Anderson, Bradford; Mrs. Jennie Anderson, Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. R. H. Mickleson, who still lives on Tidoute RD in Watson township. The two at the left are Mr. McCloskey, Tidoute, 82 years old on June 2, and Perry Lee Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Spencer, Sugar Grove, born November 18, 1950.

Everyone arrived early on the scene, bringing well-filled baskets for the picnic hour. There were visitors from Jamestown, N. Y.; Washington, D. C.; Bradford, Pittsburgh, Spring Creek, Tidoute, Warren, Grand Valley, Sheffield, Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Clarendon and North Warren. In the brief business session conducted by L. J. Anderson, Pittsburgh, a new president was elected in the person of J. Henry Hollabaugh, Tidoute RD 1, and Helen R. Hicks, Warren State Hospital, was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Boys at Lutheran Camp Having Good Time Despite Cold

(By camp reporter)

Campers at the Lutheran Boys' Camp balloted for various places of honor and doubtful honor Thursday evening. The results were as follows: Best natured, Dennis Swan; best sport, Bruce Fallon; sleepest, Clyde Baker; fattest, Jack Huckabone; biggest eaters, Ralph Pedersen, Bill Berry and G. W. Smith Jr.; shortest, John Colvin. The honor of being named the best all around camper went to Bruce Fallon.

Alaskan weather came down upon the camp but everyone has kept warm and healthy, but the cool temperatures make the swimming pool less popular. The sports program otherwise becomes more popular as a way of keeping warm. Yesterday at basketball, the Army beat the Air Force, the Sea Bees took the Paratroops and the Navy took the Commandos. At football, the Army-Commando team won from the Air Force-Coast Guard outfit and the Paratroop-Frogmen were defeated by the Sea Bees-Navy.

Members of the Christian Fellowship Class were guests last evening for supper and attended the staff stunt night which took the place of the campfire. Four members of the staff sang as a quartette, Harold Erickson presented a magic show, Jack Timm proved himself adept at becoming free after being tightly tied up

Curtailment of G. I. Agriculture Class Is Explained

Discontinuance of the G. I. vocational agriculture class at Lottsville, which has caused dissatisfaction among the 19 members of the class, was necessitated by a curtailment of the program in Warren county, according to Theodore Sponsler, county vocational agriculture advisor, today.

Mr. Sponsler said the budget for Warren county did not include enough money for four classes and the Lottsville class was ordered discontinued partly because some of those in attendance come from a district which already has its own class. Mr. Sponsler praised the ability and training of the teacher, Carleton Curtis, Columbus dairy farmer, and said the action is in no remote way a reflection on his work.

"It was most feasible to drop this particular class," Mr. Sponsler declared today.

He said he was in Tionesta on Tuesday when several members of the class visited his office and that of H. L. Blair, county school superintendent and executive officer of the Warren County Board of Education, which sponsors the program for the Veterans' Administration in Warren, Forest and Elk counties. When Mr. Sponsler returned to Warren late in the day, he heard of the dissatisfaction so went to Lottsville to attend the class' meeting that evening and to explain the situation.

"Facts of the matter have been badly misrepresented," Mr. Sponsler said today, and reiterated that no personal reasons were back of action taken.

Additional classes are taught by Walter Nielsen at Spring Creek, James Loecey at Sugar Grove, and Harry Bergstrom at Lander.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear beloved wife, daughter and sister, Alberta Rudolph Dudick, who passed away one year ago, August 25, 1950.

One sad and lonely year has passed. Since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day. Will always with us dwell. Do not ask us if we miss her. For there's a vacant place. Off we think we hear her footsteps. Or see her smiling face. And at night when all is silent. And sleep forsakes our eyes. Our thoughts are in a lonely grave. Where our dear one lies.

Sadly missed by her husband, parents, sister and brothers. 8-24-51

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for the many acts of kindnesses, for the beautiful flowers and use of cars during our recent bereavement.

Highway Safety Bureau Issues Interesting Data on Accidents

Rain, snow, fog, ice on windshield, curves in the roads—all are seemingly ideal conditions for motor vehicle accidents.

Not so, says the Bureau of Highway Safety of the State Department of Revenue, and they back up their viewpoint with a mass of data on accidents for 1950 in a pamphlet, "Accident Facts."

Of the 205,697 accidents on which the Bureau received data, 14,243 occurred while the vehicles involved were traveling in a straight direction; 14,243 occurred while the vehicle was standing in traffic; 12,301 involved parked cars. What about curves? The Bureau listed 2884 mishaps in which the vehicle was turning right, 8511 in which a left turn was being made, and 7000 in which the vehicle was bearing right or left on curve.

Road conditions prevailing at time of accidents showed 57.8 per cent occurred on dry pavements; 25.8 per cent when it was wet; 11.4 per cent when it was icy; and 4.4 per cent when it was snowing. Clear weather was prevailing at the time 68,253 accidents occurred, while only 2,640 were reported having happened when it was foggy.

Daylight travel is more dangerous than at night, the report shows. Slightly over 57 per cent of the accidents reported occurred in daylight, 21.1 per cent at night on lighted streets, and 15,915 occurred at night on streets which were not lighted.

What about a driver's view being obstructed? The Bureau says that in 90.4 per cent of the accidents, the motorist's vision was not blocked. A mere 2.5 said there was rain, snow or ice on the windshield.

How about that lurking suspicion concerning women drivers? The Safety Bureau reports that in 87.3 per cent of the 205,697 accidents reported, the drivers were male and only eight per cent were female. Sex of 4.7 per cent of the drivers involved was not stated in the reports.

NEW FEDERAL HEATING REGULATIONS

Petroleum Administration for Defense Issues Rulings Covering Gas Heating Installations

Restrictions Already Announced by Pennsylvania Gas Company Are Not Altered or Changed

No doubt you have read articles appearing in the local newspapers recently to the effect that the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) has issued orders imposing limitations on the delivery and use of Gas for space heating.

Official copies of the Federal Order have been received by us and the limitations imposed on Gas for Heating do not alter or change the present restrictions which were approved by Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission on March 7, 1947, and which were contained in our general letter to all customers dated May 17, 1951, and advertised in the months of May and June, 1951, in the newspapers.

The PAD order was issued because of the necessity to promote and help national defense and to provide present customers with an adequate supply of Gas this winter.

The new Federal Order includes a penalty provision affecting gas companies and their customers which reads as follows:

"Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both."

Applications for Gas for heating will continue to be received—filed in date order, according to Tariff classifications, and permits granted as determined by PAD orders.

There are no restrictions on the use of gas for Cooking, Water Heating or Refrigeration.

OUTCAST OF DESTINY

PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 11

LIL SAW three of Biff's men coming at a fast walk, saw Frisco Pete and Red Conrad detach themselves from the bar to follow them. Frisco Pete said, "They don't need no help, boys," and the three men slowly advanced, flashed backward glances and kept their hands away from their hardware.

Biff was lying on the wreck of the table supporting himself with an arm. His face, which had whitened with anger, slowly turned dull red. He got up slowly and Brent took a backward step to give him room.

Jack Roselle came over from the bar and said in his toneless voice, "What's the trouble, Tex?" "Why, no trouble at all, Jack," drawled Brent. "Biff just got a little impatient because I was buying drinks for Judy and offered to relieve me. I didn't feel like being relieved. I had a idea that as long as I spent money I could sit with whoever I choose and as long as I want. Maybe I'm wrong."

"No, you're not wrong," Jack turned to Biff. "Plenty other guys on the floor, Biff, and plenty more nights coming up. You socked Tex and he socked you, that makes it even as far as the Palace is concerned. Come on over and have a drink."

Biff stood there glaring, but he had no defense and he knew it. He said, "Yeah, there are other nights comin'." He looked at Judy, sitting whitened at the bar, and returned presently to the bar at least one of them."

He turned away and walked with Jack to the bar. Brent bolstered his gun, signaled the bartender for drinks and sat down. Even at that moment he was thinking that it was Jack who had given the orders and Biff who had obeyed. It began to look as though Jack Roselle was the big boss he was seeking.

Biff left shortly thereafter, but Brent remained at the table with Judy until Uncle Jim Ferguson came over and smiled down at them. He said, "Do you like that fellow, Biff? If so, I'd be glad to take over."

Brent willingly surrendered his place and went away with the memory of Judy's tremulous smile.

He went home when the Palace closed, sensed that he was being followed and, thinking the

Chapter 12

BRENT glanced across the room. Biff Williams had stepped away from the bar and was watching the doorway through which the girls had gone. He turned and went out, and Brent, his face tightening, followed him.

Biff went down the street and into the alley. He turned and went out, and Brent, his face tightening, followed him. Brent walked to the half-doors and looked over them. Biff was at the bar. He had a drink then moved over to where four of his men were seated about a poker table. He said something to them, and sat down with them. Brent, remembering Shotgun, went back to the alley and followed it to the rear of the Palace.

The door which led to the stairway was open and enough light filtered down from the hall upstairs to enable him to see. He entered from the alley or through the side door in the Palace. He sat in the doorway of the stable and watched for an hour, then walked around the block and went into the bathroom. Shotgun was not in the place and Biff had not returned. He found Lil at the rear of the room and asked, "Judy all right?"

"I guess so. I put her to bed and she went right to sleep."

"What made her so sleepy all of a sudden?"

"Tex, I wondered about that. I smelled her breath and it had a sort of funny smell. You know, not all whiskey; something else mixed in."

"Come upstairs with me and see if she's all right."

He gave him a startled look. His face had tightened and his eyes were narrowed. She said, "Sure, Tex."

They went upstairs and Lil tried the door. It was locked. She said, "That's funny. Judy was sleeping sound; how'd the door get locked?"

Brent rapped on the door. "Judy! You awake?"

They heard soft sounds as though somebody was moving about in the dark room. Brent called, "Judy! Open up!"

There came a soft thump, then a slithering sound followed by a muffled thud. Judy did not answer. Brent stepped back, hunched his shoulders and hit the door like a battering ram. It gave and he was in the room. The light from stalker might be Biff, ducked into a passageway and waited until the man passed. He knew by his build that the man was Cliff Durham. The marshal suspected him and was watching him, hoping to catch him attempting another theft in the black robe.

He slept late and killed time by playing cards in one of the rooms. When he finally entered the Palace things were in full swing. Biff and Shotgun were at the bar but not together. Shotgun had his left arm in a sling and Brent was watching him, hoping to catch him attempting another theft in the black robe.

And then he noticed the stranger. He was an ordinary enough appearing man, average size and build, seamed face, with a bushy mustache and blue eyes. He was at the bar, but after awhile he strolled around the games, risking a dollar here and there, and finally wound up in a chair which he tilted against the wall. He pulled his hat down and appeared to go to sleep.

Brent knew the procedure which would follow, for he had gone through it himself. Frisco Pete slipped out of the saloon and returned presently to talk briefly with Jack. The stranger's horse and personal belongings had been examined for a clue to his identity. Presently some of them would start talking with him, trying to pump him.

Conversation would be general and there would be no mention of raids, past or contemplated, while the stranger was in the room.

Judy was on the job, laughing and talking with the men who took her to table or bar, sipping cold tea for which her admirers paid whiskey prices. She smiled and waved at Tex and he grinned at her but did not join her. He left her and went back to the end of the bar. He asked, "Who's the stranger?"

"Calls him Lem Purdy and he's looking for a job. Says he's been with gun. Keep your lips zipped until you hear from him."

Brent said he would and moved away.

He hall was too dim to show him much; he thumped a match into flame and held it high. Judy lay asleep on the bed, partly uncovered, her dark hair streaming over her shoulders.

Brent struck another match and lighted the lamp on the washstand. He came back to the bed, bent over it and with a quick breath, then raised an eyelid and looked at the pupil. He said softly, slowly, "The dirty louse!"

He straightened and looked about the room. The window was open, he heard it and saw that it overlooked the roof of the adjoining building. He knew now why he had seen nobody come or go through the rear doorway.

Lil asked, "What is it, Tex?"

HE TURNED and she saw the fury in his face. "Laudanum," he said briefly. "That one whiskey she drank was doped. And it looks as though we got here just in time. Stay here with her; I'll fix it with Jack."

He went down the stairs and into the saloon. He said to Jack, "Somebody doped Judy's drink and got through the window into her room. We scared him away when he tried to get in. I told Lil to stay with her."

Jack nodded and said nothing. There was nothing to say. He went out and walked to the saloon which Biff had entered. Biff was still at the poker table, but that meant not a thing. The men he was playing with were his own men and would alibi him if he needed an alibi. Brent swore under his breath and walked to Shotgun's shack. There was a light on it and when he looked through the window he saw Shotgun sitting at a table studying a solitary layout.

Brent went around to the front, grasped the door handle and pressed the latch and the door opened. He stepped quickly inside, kicked it shut after him. Shotgun wheeled about in his chair, tensed, then saw that Brent had not drawn his gun and got slowly to his feet. "What the devil do you want?"

"I want to know where you went when you left the Palace."

"What's it to you where I went?"

"Plenty." He advanced slowly and Shotgun began backing away. If he had not been so angry he

Judy did her number and received the usual enthusiastic applause. Ferguson managed to beat Biff to it and escorted her to a table when she had finished. To Brent's surprise he took her to Lu's table and motioned Red Conrad to join them. Brent guessed that he was trying to make peace between the two girls. Well, if anybody could do that it was Uncle Jim.

Apparently he was successful, for Lu actually smiled at Judy, and when Ferguson ordered drinks she went to the bar herself to get them. Brent saw Judy sip her drink and make a face, but the others kept urging her to drink and she finally shrugged and downed what was evidently a shot of whiskey. They laughed and talked and presently Red Conrad ordered a round.

Lu ordered a round on the house and once more brought them to the table. Ferguson shook his head at first, but finally took the drink and swallowed it. He got up, beckoned to Stub Shelly and surrendered his place to him. He told them goodnight and came over to the far layout where Brent was standing. He said in a lowered voice, "Well, I think the girls have signed a peace pact, but I'm not much of a drinker so I called on Stub to take over. With two of Jack's men at the table I don't think it likely that Biff or Shotgun will try to horn in. I'm going home and turn in, every body will be all right now."

"Is that tea or whiskey Judy's drinking?"

"Lu coaxed her to take one drink of whiskey; the rest have been tea."

He told Brent goodnight and went out. With his departure the gaiety at Lu's table quickly died. Judy sat silent, a bit rigid, staring across the table. Brent saw her blink her eyes, then shake her head. She said something to Lu and got unsteadily to her feet and Brent moved close enough to hear Lu say, "What's the matter? Don't tell me that one drink made you tight!"

Judy shook her head. "Just—sleepy, I'm so—sleepy."

"Then go upstairs and go to bed." She called, "Lil! Judy's going to sleep standing up. Take her to her room and put her to bed."

Lil said, "Sure. Come on, kid, let's get Judy put to bed by an arm and they went out the side door and up the stairs.

Shotgun gave a quick glance about him and backed away two steps. He saw the look on his face. He growled, "What's the matter, feller? You the kid to jump a man when he ain't got but one arm?"

"Where did you go when you left the Palace?"

"I came straight home; I been here since I'm so—sleepy."

"I think you're lying. I think you climbed to the roof beside the Palace and got through the window into Judy's room." He was still moving slowly towards Shotgun, stalking him. Once more he stepped forward a few steps.

He stumbled against the wood box and put out his hand as though to brace himself against the wall. The hand darted into a corner and came away with the sawed-off shotgun he always kept. He tossed it up, caught it deftly by the small of the stock and Brent heard the click of the hammers.

He dived under the weapon, hitting Shotgun just above the knee. He heard the roar of the gun, felt the blast of the explosion, then Shotgun went sprawling over his back.

Brent heaved upward and threw Shotgun's body clear, then whirled like a cat and pounced upon him. He tore the weapon from Cuthbert's hand and hurled it the length of the room, then snatched out the man's Colt and threw that after it. He got up, dragging Shotgun erect with him. He pushed the man's head down heavily on the punk, then Shotgun went sprawling over his back.

"Upon This Rock I Will Build My Church"

JESUS asked His Disciples, "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?" And they said, "Some say John the Baptist; some, Elias; and other, Jeremiah, or one of the prophets."

He said, "But whom say ye that I am?"

Simon Peter answered, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

And Jesus said to him, "Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it to thee, but My Father in Heaven."

"And I say also to thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build My church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Christian's Social Obligation

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

SOME years ago, when I was writing editorials for THE CONGREGATIONALIST, the paper begun on Boston's Beacon Hill over a hundred-and-twenty-five years ago that has never missed a single weekly issue, I wrote an editorial on the question, "Is Mr. Ford Too Rich?"

The Mr. Ford of the editorial was the famous Henry, but the reference was personal only as Mr. Ford typified the inventor, who, had made a great and almost revolutionary contribution to society and amassed a great fortune.

Into that editorial I put all that I had learned in nine years of academic study of economics and sociology. Yet I had the humiliation of discovering that, so far as I knew, not a single individual from the Atlantic to the Pacific had read it.

Less important things that I had written had occasioned plenty of comment and controversy, and an occasional article, written chiefly to fill space, I had found rather widely copied and quoted. But later I found that the "Mr. Ford" editorial had not gone altogether unread, or missed its mark.

Mr. Ford owed more to society, than society owed to him.

And you and I owe more to society than society owes to us. It is not only that we are members one of another, but we are units in a vast and complicated organization upon which we depend for the very life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, that we choose to regard as our heritage.

Last week I suggested the problems and confusions with which we are confronted under the pressures, possible perils, and changed conditions, in which our liberties have been restricted. What is our Christian duty in relation to the tense issues of today? And how are Christian leaders meeting these issues, so marked with bitter controversies, conflicts, accusations and smearings?

Frankly, I think that Christian leadership is failing.

Differences of interests, differences of judgments and aims, differences about actions and policies, are inevitable. But it is not inevitable that men should differ with hatred and scorn.

The very tenseness of the situation and issues of today makes all the more necessary the attainment and practice of the virtues that the Christian way enjoins—patience, forbearing, elemental honesty in speech and acts.

If we are to pay our debt to society, we must begin by heeding the wise injunction of St. Paul: "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others."

Smartest Woman of the Year!

NEW YORK KIDS ENJOY SUMMER COUNTRY LIFE—TO SOME EXTENT

Copyright, 1951, by Acme Newspictures

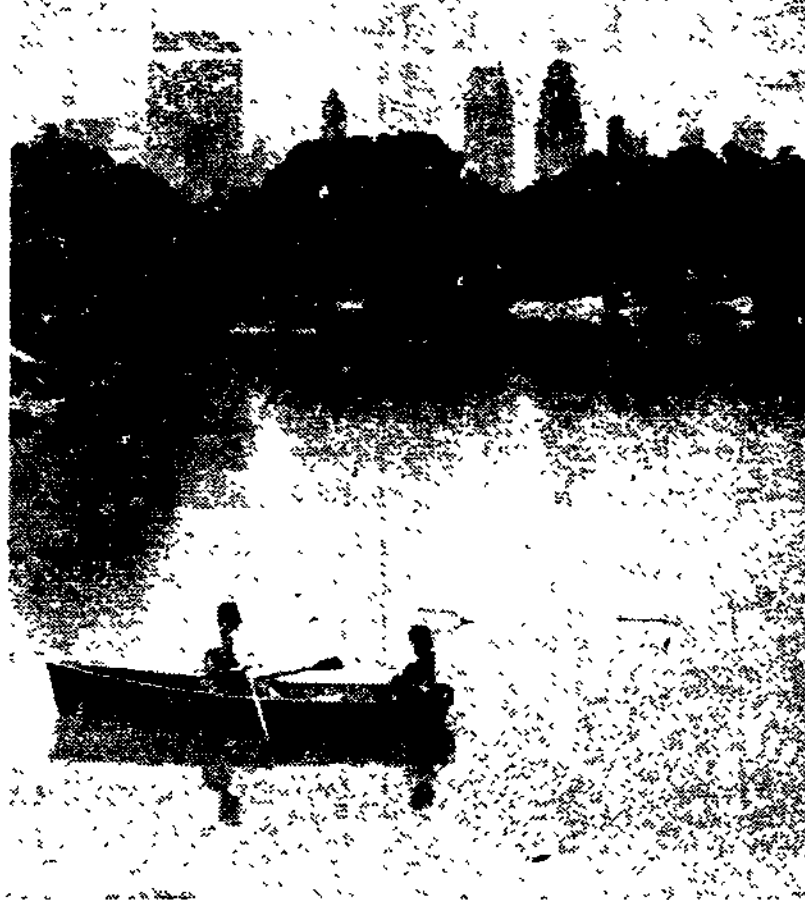

NEW ITALIAN LINER LAUNCHED IN TRIESTE FOR AUSTRALIAN RUN

SKETCH TIME—Famed artist Paul Meltsner makes a preliminary sketch of 19-year-old Jacqueline Jackson, whom the artist selected as the typical American girl in Woodstock, N. Y. Her portraits will hang in the national museums of France, Brazil and Mexico, as officially requested. Miss Jackson works in a Woodstock restaurant to pay her way through the University of Pennsylvania.

SUMMER IN THE CITY

FISHING DAYS—This young city angler shows he's an experienced fisherman on a lake in New York's Central Park. He got his dad to row while he sees what he can do from the boat.

HEART OF THE CITY—Two lads, left, above, try their luck at the same lake where tall buildings provide sharp contrast to a rural scene. In the very heart of Manhattan lies the patch of country that is an oasis for the kids in a desert of dust, fumes, concrete, steel and glass. Above, right, the boys talk shop as they stroll home through a country lane in Central Park.

ON FLYING TOUR—Pom-Pom is leaning over in the lap of Colleen Miller to tell her canine boy friend, Archie, to behave himself as he prepares to leave the Los Angeles airport on a nationwide personal appearance tour. Archie is an actor in the movies and he's going out to give his public a thrill like the flesh-and-blood variety of human actors.

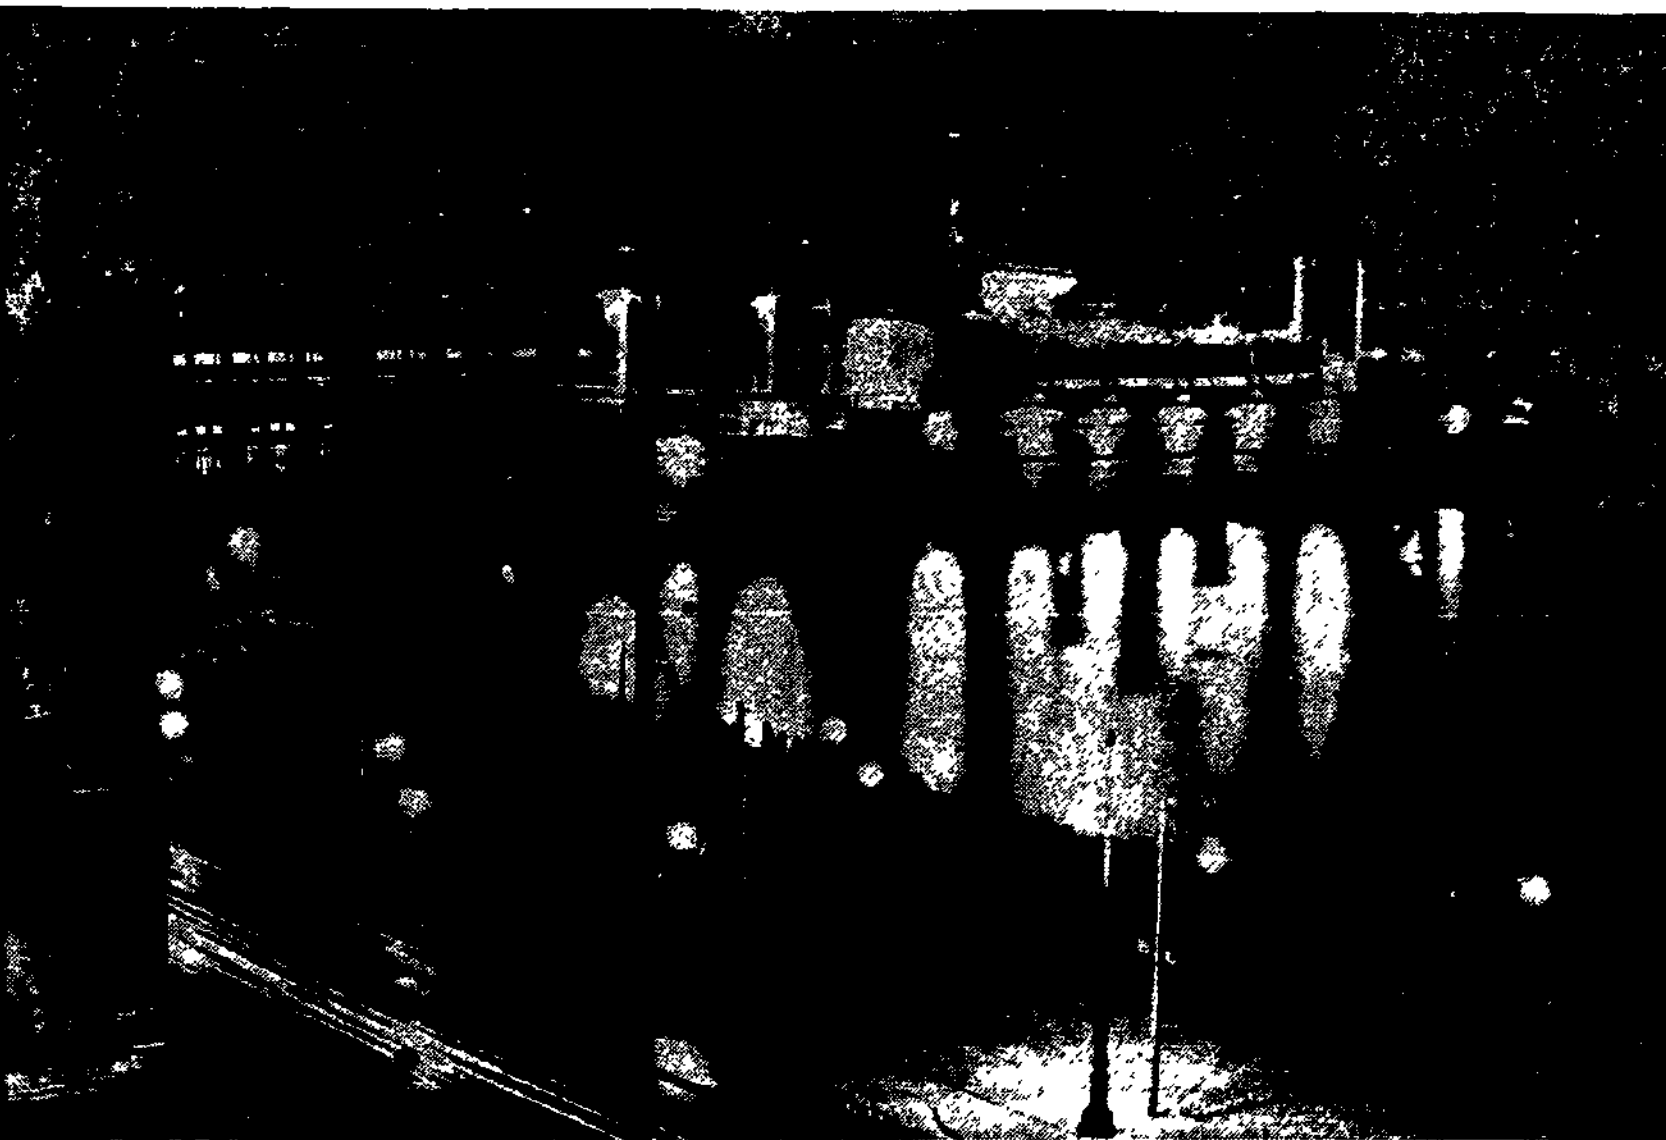

NOSE IN THE AIR—Willie, a cat in Cleveland, O., is not doing double chin exercises in the mirror, nor is he looking for flying milk saucers. Willie's merely snubbing his own image for he's sure it's another feline wearing the same sort of gay ribbon about its neck.

TITILLATING—Actress Terry Moore plays a provocative debutante in "Two of a Kind," a new Hollywood picture. Her glamorous gams are set off to advantage in the film in this white sharkskin, two-piece play suit. Terry hasn't been in pictures very long, but she's making a big name for herself.

DANGER OF TYPHUS—The shortage of water in war-torn Seoul, Korea, has forced some citizens to use old, unsanitary wells. They little realize that typhus usually begins where pure water runs out. Here, Korean children drink water from a well that may be contaminated. Careless acts like this can be the start of the epidemics which always threaten war-ravaged cities.

NEW ITALIAN LINER—Streams of light flood the new Italian liner Oceania before she leaves Trieste, F.T., on her maiden trip to Genoa to start on her regular Italy-Australia service. One of three sister ships launched by Trieste united shipyards, the 13,000-ton liner is powered with diesel engines and has a cruising speed of 18 knots per hour. She'll accommodate 900 passengers.

ON THE DEFENSE—Julius Petty, of Stuttgart, Ark., has won trapshooting honors all over the U. S. He'll participate in the 52nd Grand American tournament at Dayton, O., to defend his national doubles-target championship. Last year he broke 97 out of 100 in that difficult event.

FAMILY AFFAIR—Although Bob Feller, of the Cleveland Indians, is having one of the best seasons of his pitching career, he still has plenty of time for breakfast with the family in Gates Mills, O. Baby Bruce is in the center as his brother, Marty, and mother, Virginia, look on. Feller uses his private plane to fly to and from Cleveland Stadium for the home games.

"Last year you sent me to a spot where I found a husband—now how about a place where I can lose him?"

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Written for NEA Service
If everybody always bid and played bridge according to the book, you'd find me playing tiddly-winks or a nice snappy round of croquet. Part of the thrill of bridge is getting yourself into the soup—and out of it.

It was a nice thick soup that South plunged into when he bid four spades. He was doomed to lose at least two spades and two clubs. But the hand gave him game and rubber.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South had a chance—if he could guess the way to play the red suits. If West had led from the king of hearts, South could let the first trick ride around to the back and then repeat the heart finesse.

often been heard to say. This was considered the latest word fifty years ago, and that was good enough for West.

For this reason South didn't relish the idea of playing West for the king of hearts. West might have held kings in three of the four suits, but he surely didn't have the king of diamonds and therefore could have led a diamond if he had held the king of hearts.

There was only one other chance, and South played for it. He put up the ace of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, and led two more top diamonds, discarding the jack of hearts from his hand. The odds were almost 2 to 1 against a 3-3 break in diamonds, but any other play was sheer surrender.

Fortunately for declarer, both defenders had to follow to three rounds of diamonds. Now declarer could lead a fourth diamond from the dummy and discard one of his losing clubs.

It didn't matter which opponent ruffed, for the ruff would come at the expense of a natural trump.

trick. South would lose only one club and two trumps.

YEAH, AND $75,000 DIVIDED BY ONE WOULD BE Nicer!

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE

Office of The Housing Exp-diter, Area Rent Office, 767
Commerce Building,
Erie, Penn'a

QUESTION: How long is federal rent control continued under the new rent law signed by President Truman on July 31, 1951?

ANSWER: Until June 30, 1955.

Question: What agency now administers federal rent control?

ANSWER: The Office of Economic Stabilization, a division of the Economic Stabilization Agency.

All personnel, equipment, and funds of The Office of the Housing Expediter, which formerly administered rent control, have been transferred to the new agency.

Wighe E. Woods, formerly Housing Expediter, is the new Director of The Office of Economic Stabilization.

QUESTION: What provisions does the new rent law make for increased costs of operation and maintenance?

ANSWER: The law provides that landlords, as a result of known applications submitted to the Rent Office, may secure a 20 per cent increase over the legal maximum rent for the housing accommodations on June 30, 1947, plus increases for major capital improvements, added living space, services, furniture, furnishings or equipment, minus decreases for decreased services, living space, furniture, furnishings, equipment, or for substantial deterioration or for failure to perform ordinary repair, replacement or maintenance.

QUESTION: It is my understanding that some previous increases will effect or partially effect the full 20% increase. What type of increases will be considered as offsets?

ANSWER: If a landlord increased his rental as a result of a voluntary 15% long term lease for with the Rent Office, or received an increase based on increased operating costs, these increases would be considered offsets to ANSWER: Since the new permits 20% increase above June 30, 1947 level for increase of operation and maintenance, your new rent will be per month if your landlord is the necessary forms with the Rent Office, or an increase of $2 per month above your present rent.

odor field," she said. "So I became so far as I know, the first person to make a career as an odor consultant."

"Different odors have different effects," Miss Allen said, dressed as the annual reporter of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

"Most people are unaware of them. I prefer lilac because it soothes to the nerves. Lavender is used to attract and trap insects and tigers. Magnolia has been found successful in stimulating the appetites of children."

She said that women have a stronger sense of smell than men, even women are behind insects. And fish smell best of all. Better than a hound dog.

"A brunette girl will have more acute sense of smell than a blonde. A blonde has more body odor than a blonde," she continued. "And a red-head has more of both than either of them. It's a matter of glands and skin pigments."

Miss Allen says America spends $200,000,000 a year on industry and home deodorants, including $60,000,000 on body deodorants. But she still thinks housewives are remiss because they don't use specific odors as well as specific colors for each room.

Two Deadlocks to be Settled Tonight in the Sunset League

Playoffs of two tie games in the second half schedule of the Sunset Baseball League are scheduled tonight, as follows:

Floridan Company vs Suppa Studebakers, Wilder field.

Hammond Iron vs Sons of Italy, State Hospital field.

Both contests will get under way at 6 o'clock.

These tie games played havoc with the second-half schedule of the Sunset loop. In one game, Hammond and Sons of Italy battled to a 5-5 deadlock, and then wound up in an 8-8 draw when they attempted to settle their differences in a second clash. Floridan and Suppas also battled to a 4-4 draw.

Cleveland Indians Lead Yanks By 3-Game Margin in A. L. Loop

The Cleveland Indians, streaking three games ahead in the bustling American League pennant fight, are in an excellent position today to smash the New York Yankees' hopes of a third straight flag.

Manager Al Lopez' fighting gang have the proud Yankees on the ropes and set up for the kill.

The Indians moved three games ahead of New York yesterday as Bob Lemon turned back the Yanks, 2-1, in the opener of a vital three-game series.

Early Wynn (14-11), a tough guy when the chips are on the line, will go against the Yanks tonight before an expected capacity crowd in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

The Yanks, with their backs to the wall, are gambling on "Tubby O'errime" (2-7) to pitch them back into the scrap. For the finale on Saturday Lopez has Mike Garcia (17-4) ready to meet Ed Lopat (16-7), slow balling left-hander who has not been sharp of late. Lopat, however, has been a thorn in the side of the Indians for years, boasting a 31-8 life time record against Cleveland.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel selected Overmire for the important second game because both of

Times-Mirror, Sons of Italy Nines to Play Rubber Game

A large turnout of area baseball fans is anticipated tonight when the Sons of Italy and Times-Mirror teams clash in the third and deciding game of a best-out-of-three series for the Hot Stove Midget championship.

The scrap is slated for War Memorial field, starting at 6 o'clock.

Times-Mirror, winner of the Midget Eastern Division, took the opening game in the playoff series by a 4-3 count.

Sons of Italy, however, came back strong in the second game to register an 8-3 victory. This team advanced into the playoffs by sweeping the Western Division.

Initial Week Of Practice Ends For Warren Gridders

Saturday morning marks the completion of one week of practice for the Warren High Dragon football squad, when the Blue and White gridders report to Beatty field at nine o'clock.

Since Monday Head Coach "Jake" Leidig has been working out with his boys at the field every afternoon, drilling, scrimmaging and running through plays.

With a nucleus of five letter-men, the 1951 team is shaping up nicely and should be in tip-top condition for the opener against Corry under the arcs on September 7, two weeks from tonight.

Titusville Boy of Six Fatally Injured Playing Game of "Cops and Robbers"

Titusville, Aug. 24—A game of cops and robbers on the South Side ended fatally last evening for Robert Wayne Grolemond, 6-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Grolemond of 331 East Walnut street.

Running less than eight feet from a standing start, Robert crashed into a wooden barn as his head was turned to look for pursuers. He was knocked unconscious and died a few minutes later in the home of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton J. Coe, 516 South Perry street, before a physician arrived.

In the absence of an autopsy, Dr. C. M. Sonne of Titusville, deputy coroner, attributed death to a rupture of the spinal cord. A slight abrasion on the forehead was the only mark on the boy.

Robert, who would have been seven in a week and a first grader this fall, ate supper with his parents at the Coe home. Dinner table conversation included remarks on how fortunate the Grolemonds had been with their three sons in escaping childhood's broken arms and legs.

After supper Robert dashed out to play with boys from the neighborhood—Dickie and Bobbie Reib, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reib, 51 South Perry street, Floyd Sittig and others.

The game took place near a barn on the east side of Mulvey place, an alley which runs north and south between Bloss and Breed streets in the block bounded on the east and west by Jones and Perry streets. The time was about 8 p. m.

With two companions, Robert was standing between the alley and the barn, a space about eight feet deep, facing west. Suddenly the boys turned and ran. Robert was apparently not aware that he was so close to the barn and struck it before he looked to see where he was going.

One of the boys ran to Mrs. Reib and panted: "Come quick. Bobbie's laying there and won't get up. He bumped his head."

Mrs. Reib ran to the Coe house where Mr. and Mrs. Grolemond were about to tell Bobbie to come in, that it was time to go home.

Mr. Grolemond, who is employed by Jack Lowes Recapping in Oil City, ran across lots to the alley and found his son, gasping and unconscious on the ground. He carried the boy to the house where after one or two last heavy breaths, the child died.
